ACCOUNTING

ISCAL is one of the oldest Portuguese higher education institutions, with more than 260 years of history.

Considered one of the most prestigious institutions in accounting education, it counts on a group of professors with recognized academic and professional competence.

The course has the participation of several professionals as well as representatives from professional bodies, which will allow the students a greater proximity to the reality under study.

The main outcome of the course is to explore the accounting concepts in the context of individual companies, being those skills an essential element in the education of future managers and other professionals. Beyond this, understanding the importance of the reporting process is another goal of this program.
